

It is bad enough we get their junk mail on a daily basis let alone they be given the go ahead to solicit via the phone. My name is on the list for a reason and those reasons are as follows: No more interruptions during dinner, No more calls during a favorite video, No more calls after 8:00 as I go to bed early as I have to be at work 32 miles from home by 7:15...need I say more...then as I mentioned above, banks/credit card companies sending mailers about new accounts, less interest..."What a waste of our forest!". Not to mention the disservice they do their customers when they pass our names and financial information on to other banks. Do I want them to interrupt my time at home? NOT EVEN OR EVER!!!!!!!
